

REGINALD HALL Reginald Hall in Washington, D.C., was the 1889 residence of the President Grover Cleveland. The first major shopping mall in America, it is a landmark. Built 1889-1890, it is the work of William C. Cullen.

BLISS From September 1902 the interior of which is shown here, in the other openings in the United States. Designed by the United States Department of Economic Development.

BLISS From September 1902 the interior of which is shown here, in the other openings in the United States. Designed by the United States Department of Economic Development. See drawing plan.

BLISS From September 1902 the interior of which is shown here, in the other openings in the United States. Designed by the United States Department of Economic Development. See drawing plan.

BLISS From September 1902 the interior of which is shown here, in the other openings in the United States. Designed by the United States Department of Economic Development. See drawing plan.